Lyric driven indie pop with tight harmonies and elegant hooks. 11 MP3 Songs POP: with Live-band Production, FOLK: Modern Folk Details: Jamie Stellini met Jessie Murphy at a blues jam. Jessie Murphy has taken great pains to keep this information from you. But now it's out and now you know. Jamie Stellini met Jessie Murphy at a blues jam. And the rest, as they say, is history. They quickly initiated a tawdry affair that left both of them whimpering and bruised, only to discover the truest expression of their love could only be contained in song. But, has it really been contained? You be the judge of that. Jessie Murphy grew up demurely on the Upper West Side, bullying little boys for kisses and practicing jump shots at a nearby court. Jamie Stellini grew up loudly in Queens, talking tough girls out of lunch money and learning how not to become demure. When they met 4 years ago on Avenue C, they knew immediately they had just become a part of something that would not be ignored. They were in the Love. And so, they sat and talked and sat and played records for one another. Jessie insisted they learn "Private Eyes," and Jamie heartily agreed. Jamie presented "Rock Steady" and Jessie swept her into her arms. The affair is real; this story may not be. And I think that's all you need to know....
