Lindsay Tomasic's second album tells thought provoking stories of small towns, friends, family, love and loss. It features Lindsay's rich vocals and unique guitar playing accompanied by the eclectic percussion of recording artist and co-producer, Quinn. 11 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Blues, POP: with Live-band

Production Details: The album "Paradise Road" is a journey of picturesque emotional songs that take you to the small town in Upper Michigan where Lindsay grew up . Co-produced by recording artist and drummer/percussionist, Quinn, the album production is sparse and eclectic and features all acoustic instruments. Lindsay is accompanied by musicians Quinn, Larry Tuttle, Tim Kobza, Dave Pearlman, David McKelvey, Gabe Witcher and the late and great Stephen Chase. As a songwriter and producer, Lindsay's career has spanned three decades. Her musical influences are; Joni Mitchell, Bonnie Raitt, Annie Lennox, Sting and The Story among others. Lindsay Tomasic has been recording and performing on the acoustic music scene since the early 1980's. She now resides in Los Angeles California where she works full time writing songs, and composing music for Television and Film. Lindsay owns her own music catalogue, Frameworks Music frameworksmusic.com. Lindsay is one of the original members of the band Trees, who made a splash in Ann Arbor Michigan in the late 1970's and 1980's. Teamed up with singer/songwriter Jesse Fitzpatrick, also from upper Michigan, the duo had a tremendous following and have written many songs together. COMING SOON!!!! After a recent performance at The Ark in Ann Arbor Michigan, Trees has re-united with bass player Randy Tessier and has begun production on a brand new CD, which will be released in late 2006.
