Details: Patrice Moerman is pleased to announce the release of her debut CD "Following A Dream." Patrice wrote the music and lyrics for all songs and the CD was produced by Jim Robeson. Jim has a long history of producing and engineering for many fine musicians and is a three time Grammy nominee. The sound is guitar driven rock, inspired by the music from the late 60's , early 70's. It has been described as "rock, bluesy, a little country, even new wave. The lyrics of these songs stand out--they are interesting, unconventional, and put a fresh spin on some familiar themes. Patrice plays electric guitar, piano and does all the vocals, along with Jim Robeson on bass, Paul Bell on lead guitar, Andy Haley on drums, Mike Griffith on drums, Bill Starks on Hammond C-3 organ, and Luis Garay on congas and percussion. She was a finalist in the Mid-Atlantic Song Contest with the song "You Affect Me". Three songs won honorable mentions from the 2001 Billboard Songwriting Contest and five won for the 2002 Billboard Contest. Patrice was also a finalist in the Guitargirlssongwriting contest. She is a self-taught musician and has worked as a commercial artist for many years. The CD cover of "Following A Dream" is one of her original paintings.
