Electro acoustic free improvisation with bird singing 13 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Experimental, CLASSICAL: Contemporary Details: Finally, thanks to the courage of Cero-records and Singer Ladra, goes to the market the authentic session of "Bird Quartet" in Mexico city , the one that has to wait almost five years before being published. In "Sol Azteca vs. Mexican sky", the feathered quartet combine free improvisations with electronic treatments and birds singings, bringing to life fantastic scenarios that goes from claustrophobia to vertigo and from isolation to pile. Besides it includes two extras: a video realized by Alejandro Cons and the graphic design made by Carlos Cons, that are an intimate view of the groups folklore. Convenient to say that the recording was approved by the Anti-Pop Brigade. "Rock in opposition, contemporary music, the truth is that this album is a whole challenge to those listeners who wants to cross the limits given when labeling the music; to find few concurred sonorous ways in our days."
