Electronic music melodically conceived with a driving beat that makes you want to tap your foot. 13 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Freestyle, NEW AGE: Contemporary Instrumental Show all album songs: Fly In The Pie Songs Details: K. Brent Coppenbarger received his Doctorate of Musical Arts degree in clarinet performance from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where he became interested in composing. "Fly in the Pie" was composed using a Roland JV-1000 and several tone generators. The music is in a traditional, polyphonic style, influenced by jazz, with a strong rhythmic pulse. Dr. Coppenbarger teaches at a liberal arts college in South Carolina. He lives with his wife, two children, two cats, dog, and several fish. Fly In The Pie (title song) depicts a picnic that goes badly wrong. Free Fall is a dream of falling. The Newborn Child was composed on the birth of Dr. Coppenbarger's first child. Cassiopeia's Journey represents the life of the Siamese cat, Cassie, who was an indoor cat and never actually went anywhere. The Home Coming was composed for the second child. Soul of the Dove is a dream of flying. Fantasy for Sonja was written for Dr. Coppenbarger's wife. Dr. Coppenbarger has forgotten what made him write Cosmic Mind Lapse, but it was very important at the time. He wrote The Brook to help his children get to sleep. Scattered Thoughts . . . What? What? We'll get back to you on this one. Dream Land is waking from a dream. Listening to Dreams of Childhood, you can hear snippets of some familiar children's tunes. KC's Theme is Dr. Coppenbarger's personal theme song.
