Australia's top synthpop act, playing a combination of retro-style, sing-along tunes and moody anthems. 20 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Pop Crossover, POP: New Wave Details: Neuropa is one of Australia's top modern synthpop bands, combining great melodies, catchy hooks, and stellar performance to make memorable songs that appeal not only to electronic pop music fans, but to anybody who likes great pop songs. This double-disc release presents the band's first two albums which were sold out and hard to find for a few years. Due to high demand, they are now available again in this double-album re-release. One reviewer wrote: Two CDs for the price of one its not a bad deal at all. This is a reissue of two of the earlier releases from Neuropa an Australian synthpop band. You can definately tell the progression from the earlier work to the current album "Beyond Here and Now". These early CDs still have some awesome tracks though. Some higlights for me include: "Never Too Late" a song with a heartfelt message and nice backing synth work. "Live High" a nice poppy song with a energetic feeling to it. "Love Will Find A Way" a nice piano touch in the beginning and carried through the song really sets this song apart for me. "Waiting For A Sign" a slower melodic instrumental song shows a different side of Neuropa. "Mortality" a song which isn't quite as light and poppy as other songs, but has a very nice beat, and good vocals/lyrics.
