Adult folk ballads with a jazz twist. Sensitive like Nick Drake, musically clever like Paul Simon. 11 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, POP: Folkly Pop Details: I have always been the outsider looking in, a loner. I wait for the crowd to pass by and I watch for who is left and what they are doing. I want to turn down the volume when things are too loud and analyze what I see - quietly. Sometimes, I produce a song that is a flight of fancy, sometimes just a report from the painful side of life. I moved a lot when I was growing up: from Florida to Montreal to Chicago to New York, then from Montreal to Chicago again (with some Europe and Israel thrown in as well). Formal piano and guitar lessons for over a decade. But it was my exposure to the Weavers, the Kingston Trio, Peter, Paul, Mary and then the British Invasion (some of these groups are not well known:Pentangle and Renaissance). All that musical exposure and travelling made me aware of contrails: the swaths that moving objects leave behind.
