harmony driven, americana, country 11 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Alt-Country, FOLK: Folk-Rock Details: In the words of veteran producer Don Dixon, Volatile Baby sounds like The Carter Family The Roches decided to team up and record a bunch of newly discovered Graham Parsons songs. Volatile Baby is the love child of three semi-southern artists: Gina Stewart, Brenda Gambill and Allison Modafferi. Gina, songwriter, actress and composer for the theatre; Brenda, a songwriter, violinist and percussionist from The Doubting Thomas Band; and theatre-artist named Allison Modafferi are creating a musical landscape that pushes traditional boundaries and pulls at the listener. Volatile Babys new release, Traveling Light is available in May, 2006. Guest musicians include Carlene Carter, daughter of June Carter Cash, Jim Brock, former drummer for Kathy Mattea, Don Dixon and Wayne Jernigan. Don Dixon (REM) produced their first full length CD and describes the band best: Volatile Baby builds on the grand tradition of female vocal groups while adding their own ingenuity, spirit, instrumental prowess, and joy. Their inimitable chemistry shines through their songs live and in the studio. Their mission is simple to lift spirits and vibrations of the room with music, lyrics and vocal harmonies at each performance.
