Just a decade ago, the web had nothing more than text and images. Then came audio streaming and MP3. Internet users started downloading MP3 musics from P2P networks. The Internet had slightly more to offer. Up until this point, video streaming was, for most parts of the world, impossible. After that, the first Internet broadband was introduced and in the mid-2000s more and more Internet users in developed countries started to hook up to the net with speed a thousand times faster than a mere 56k modem. Then came video streaming sites like YouTube. Marketers now no longer have to depend on shipping CDs and DVDs when their customers can just download videos off the net after purchase, saving a bundle on shipping costs! Were in the middle of history in the making. And yes you too are in the right place at the right time to tap into the power of video marketing. Be it you work in a team, a company, or even an Internet Marketer on a shoe-string budget. Its still possible! Why Video Marketing? At this time of writing, YouTube is ranked no. 3 on Alexa, and is the leading video streaming site on the Internet! YouTube has been responsible for transforming ordinary individuals into Internet celebrities and mediocre small businesses into mega profit-rakers! The popularity of videos are constantly growing each day. This is partially owed to faster Internet connections now being made more and more easily available in most countries. Its only a matter of time when most people in the world will finally experience fast Internet connections and are inclined to favor watching videos online! Unlimited Opportunity, But Where To Start? To achieve substantial results from video marketing you need to have the following ingredients in your video marketing campaign: Interesting to view if your videos are boring, theres no reason for your viewers to continue watching.
