Details: Pop/R&B singer, songwriter, and producer Christopher Ray (also known as C-Ray) was raised in Kokomo, Indiana and currently resides in Indianapolis, Indiana. Chris first entered the music scene in 2000 with the now-defunct groundbreaking rap label I.B.R. / Rawthentic Records with Knightmare, A-Bility, and S.O.N. In 2004 he signed a recording contract with Indianapolis based independent music production company 3Duff Entertainment, but the label went bankrupt and his music career was in remission. Despite the short-lived success of the label Chris still believes it wasn't a bad experience but a "learning experience". In March 2007, C-Ray signed an exclusive deal with music mogul imprint UrbanLink Music Group (ULMG), where he was offered a label deal and is now the C.E.O. of his own music and career. "Chris is a talent that you can't create or manufacture, he's a natural born musician", says Iyron Davis president of ULMG. C-Ray is no longer signed or affiliated with ULMG, and has branched as just an Independent Artist/Producer/Songwriter. "MeMOirS" is a complete, Self-Produced Written album by C-Ray. Both the record and C-Ray have been projected to be the next cornerstone of the R&B/Pop Industry by many. Tags: pop
