The melodies take great little turns and the lyrics are smart and heartwarming...Either way you look at it, she's really good." Collected Sounds Magazine collectedsounds.com/cdreviews/nothing.html "West's music is textured, arresting and utterly authentic." Siren Song Magazine sirensongmagazine.com/2004/issue13.html Full review from Performing Songwriter Magazine: "Christa West's NOTHING IS NOT ENOUGH is the kind of superb debut that few songwriters create, much less ever record. West crafts dreamy pop jazz with a voice that will remind you of Natalie Merchant. Romantic desire, consistent determination, and strong independence emerge lyrically, sparking a connection to Jewel that's early-career-living-in-a-van Jewel, not disco-hot-pants Jewel). Inspired by day-job sweat and spotlight ambition, she accomplishes what many only dream of."
