Acoustic folk/pop with a hint of country from a storyteller who cut his teeth on James Taylor and Jim Croce. 10 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, POP: Folkly Pop Details: Since 1994, Lester has released three albums of his own contemporary folk songs, performed hundreds of shows, appeared on television and live radio shows, had songs played on stations throughout much of the country, performed at the Bluebird Cafe in Nashville, Eddie's Attic in Atlanta and Canal St. Tavern in Dayton, OH along with numerous festivals. He has opened for artists such as Melanie, James McMurtry, Columbia Recording artists Evan Dyrum, Caroline Aiken and Drivin' N' Cryin' lead singer Kevin Kinney. Lester's third album "Not a Cloud in Sight" was released in 1999 and contains ten contemporary folk songs that put the listener in the heart of the characters whose stories they tell. The title track is a song about two young girls with XP (a disease that keeps them out of the sunlight). "Never Had Time" tells the story of a wealthy owner of a castle who rediscovers life after losing everything he owns. Lester gives us catchy melodies that wrap themselves around lives and stories. Harry continues to gather fans of his music everywhere he performs whether at a bookstore performance or at a large music festival. The love of music is what drives him to keep going and no matter how successful his music allows him to become, performing and writing will always be at the heart of who he is.
