East meets West music that blends the ancient sounds of the east with the pop-rock grooves and melodies of the west. 9 MP3 Songs WORLD: World Fusion, WORLD: World Beat Details: Larisa Stow Shakti Tribe celebrate unity, culture and diversity through their musics messages of peace, hope and love. They are committed to expressing the joy in the Oneness that we all share, and their music is a heart-opening and inspirational journey. In addition to their regular concerts at yoga studios, retreat centers, interfaith churches, and festivals, their engaging style has earned them a wide variety of performance opportunities including as the opening act for many well-known artists including Berlin, OMD Joan Jett. They've also performed for many spiritual teachers and leaders including Deepak Chopra Ram Dass. On "The Shakti Sessions," Larisa Stow Shakti Tribe celebrate peace, hope and love in this magical blend of east meets west. We are all One, connected by the invisible threads of Life, and this album is a reflection of that knowledge. They mix the spiritual and sacred with a pop sensibility, sensuality and rock groove like no other--the result is a magic carpet ride. They'll take you deep, wrap your soul in warmth, lull you into the dreamiest places your spirit can go and in the next moment make you lose your inhibitions and dance with abandon. In addition to being produced by the members of Shakti Tribe, "The Shakti Sessions" is also co-produced with grammy award winning producer Rick Hahn (Celine Dion) as well as Matt Malley. Matt Malley was a founding member and spent 14 years as the bass player in the legendary band "Counting Crows." They saw great success with such celebrated songs as "Mr. Jones" and the Oscar nominated "Accidentally in Love" from the movie Shrek II to name a few. "The Shakti Sessions" is sure to make you dance, sing, share and reflect. Music for Movement, Yoga Peace.
