With the use of a sequencer and the ability to play the guitar, keyboards, bass, drums, percussion, turntables, sing and rap, he is able to put an album together such as "Hi-Fi Fro Funk". Influenced by 70's funk, reggae/dub, hip-hop/trip-hop, rock and jazz, he has created a sound that is very listenable, danceable and unforgettable. On the song "We Got To Get TOgether Now", 6 grade kids from Portland's Harriet Tubman Middle School sing on the chorus. With its soulful-inspiring lyrics, this song is a sure pleaser! afroQben's next production is on its way, creating a double full length album of organic, less sequenced music. Working hard on getting the album complete, his fans should be patient for the debut, cause its going to be a masterpiece! Also check out his live band "Luminous Fog".(luminousfog.com). which he plays the bass and guitar. With the collaboration of this group, the self titled, "Luminous Fog" album should be in stores May 2005.
