Details: Beth spent most of her childhood barefoot, climbing jungle trees, eating tropical fruit, and loving people who looked and sounded nothing like her. She enjoyed life as the daughter of missionaries in the Philippines, but many of her experiences were large, deep, wild, and hard to understand. Her days sometimes left her full of awe or a nameless aching. So, at the age of 12, she pulled out an old electronic keyboard and began putting her feelings to song. Life moved on, and her family returned to the U.S., but Beth took the habit of songwriting with her through high school and college, into marriage and the birth of her daughter. She recorded a just for fun album in 2000 with her brother, John, and sister, Faith, which sold about 20 copies... Listening to her real debut album, Any Given Time, is like having coffee with a good friend. Beths creative, honest lyrics explore themes of Gods love, relationships, and learning to be comfortable in her own skin. Beth lives in North Carolina with the love of her life and their daughter, a second-grader and budding songwriter (listen to Like Paradise for a sample of her work!). She and her husband help provide care for teenage missionary kids and their families.
