When he reached the age of 18, Emazin began producing his own tracks for his music and put out his first mixtape entitled "My City". "My City" went on to sell hundreds of copies locally while proving Emazin was a new breed of artist with his own idenity. With his track production company,Trakhouse Producitons, Emazin and his team now produce for many local, independent and major recording artists. Armed with a unique, self made style thats straight from the heart of being real, and punchlines that deal deadly blows, Emazin has a cool laid back swagger with a hint of that grimey, "I might beat yo ass' type flavor. Having worked with many artists both local and major throughout his career, his main focus is to get his state on the map and of course, stack bread while doing it. Emazin is a different kind of artist, proving that you can be yourself without trying to fit in crowds. Making him stand out from others. Be on the look out for Emazin. In stores, houses, Cars, Clubs, Bars, Schools and everywhere theres a radio.. holla at cha boy...
