I write and sing the truth of my life and share the trials and errors, the joys and successes of love and life that we all share - from There For You, a song for my sister; Pardon Me For Praying, a song about praying for the moment and knowing there are bigger things to pray for but recognizing what we want most in the heat of the moment, my songs are true. I also have fun with Seven Lucky Nights, a song about a man who has to go no farther than his own lovers heart and home to feel "lucky", seven lucky nights a week! You will find themes I hope will touch hearts and lives, leaving "Heartprints", as one friend describes them. . The newly released 14-song cd, A Few Steps Away is a look at different types of love and how lve dealt with them in my life. One track is a bonus/featured artist Craig Alan, whom I consider to be a great influence and a wonderful songwriter who also happens to be my brother.
