Details: Sweet Claudette dishes up another batch of raw urban, but funky, southern flavored blues. Claudette decided to offer a different side of her personality to you on her 3rd CD, Sending You To Man School (the title track) cause shes good at letting a man know what it takes to get to her. Im sure you ladies can all relate with You Dont Know Me That Well as you let others know your mans not available, except through you. Dont jump fellows as you hear the car backfire on Aint No Fun When Sweet C Gits The Gun ... if you aint guilty . you got nothin to worry about (ha ha). You country music lovers might like to check out Been There, Done That. And theres still 5 more original tracks on this CD to listen to. Sweet Claudette easily changes her moods throughout this one. She goes from funk, to country, to light jazz, to groovin, to just laying it on the line. Sweet Claudette confesses shes not a man hater, but shes still enjoys sharing the truth in stories told to her by other folk. Sweet Claudette qualifies herself as one who gives the blues, but never gets them and sings the blues, but never has them. Her memories of Heflin, Alabama and life in Royal Oak Township, Michigan where many transplanted southerners lived gave her the a boost toward the materials in this latest CD. Detroit's Motor City blues singer Sweet Claudette has been one of the nations best kept secrets, but word is finally starting to spread. Claudettes songs depict her life and experiences better than any autobiography could. This recording contains nine Sweet Claudette originals and are given to her personal slant on the blues.
