KIDS/FAMILY: Kid Friendly, ROCK: Modern Rock Details: Meet The Time Outs. Get ready kiddies, theres a new band in town! The Time Outs brand of rockin kid music offers a groovy new twist on the usual fare. A lively mix of indie pop, 60s garage and good old-fashioned rock-n-roll, The Time Outs catchy tunes will have the pip squeaks hoppin and the parents sneakin a listen even when their kids arent in the car. Built on the philosophy that awesome rock doesnt have to be pretentious and that kids music doesnt have to be insanely sweet The Time Outs have created a raucous, fun dance party that will have the most jaded parents clapping and singing along. With the release of their eponymous new CD of original songs, The Time Outs add a cool retro vibe to the kindie rock community. From the doo-wop pop of songs like Monster Stomp and the psychedelic toe-tapper Pip Squeak a Go-Go to the grownup groove of Rain and The Choo Choo Song, this is one Time Out the whole family will enjoy! The Time Outs include Jim Galbraith (guitar and vocals), Greg Kim (bass), Lev Delany (keyboards) and Tom Galbraith (drums). Long-time Bay Area rockers, the members of The Time Outs have all played in numerous successful local bands including Field Trip, Short Dogs Grow, The Black Outs, The Blank Stares, The Mink Lungs and San Franciscos beloved (and only!) live karaoke band, The Amazing Embarrassonic. While the band cites influences as diverse as The Monkees, The Kinks, The Ramones and Jonathan Richman, the fellas dont have to look far for musical inspiration. Each band member is a proud parent and all the songs get test driven by their discerning 2-6 year olds. It should come as no surprise that the bubbly anthem Bathtime is Party Time is a household fave. The Time Outs can be seen around town at venues ranging from toddler playground Tumble and Tea in Berkeley to more rockin grownup clubs like The Rick Shaw

Stop in San Francisco, where they recently headlined an All Ages Dance Party, Pip Squeak A Go-Go.
