They are known for their close vocal blends and with one listen you'll remember why you love family harmony so much. Alvarado Road Show is one of country music's hardest working, most talented new artists. 10 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Modern Country, COUNTRY: Progressive Country Show all album songs: Different Stuff Songs Details: Biography- All of Country Music felt a change in the wind when something came rolling down I-40 into Nashville, Tennessee. Straight out of Alvarado (located just 26 miles south of Ft. Worth, Texas) the earthy, edgy country band Alvarado Road Show relocated their lives and families for one thing the dream of country music. Growing up in a musical family, brothers Cleve Clark (lead vocals), AJ Clark (guitar/ vocals) and nephew, Brandon Trey (drums/ vocals) haven't had any detours along the way! The years of hard work have begun to pay off for the band. Recording and performing together they have honed their skills and gained recognition as top-notch performers and songwriters. They are known for their close vocal blends and with one listen you'll remember why you love family harmony so much. Alvarado Road Show is one of country music's hardest working, most talented new artists. For over 20 years they have worked to develop a strong fan base; touring up to 150 dates a year, proving these guys are running all the red lights!! The road has shown ARS many exhilarating stops along the way. Finding their names on such billboards as The Ryman Auditorium (The Mother Church of Country Music), The CMA Music Festival ultimately sharing the stage on The Grand Ole Opry with friend former producer Steve Wariner! As songwriters, the members of Alvarado Road Show are extremely talented. Cleve Clark and AJ Clark are currently under contract as exclusive songwriters for Sony/ATV Music Publishing, while Brandon Trey is a freelance songwriter. Together they have amassed an incredible catalog of songs and are one of today's strongest songwriting teams. Co-writers they presently work with include Nashville hit-makers Steve Wariner, Kim Williams, Tom Douglas, Frank Myers, Rodney

Clawson, Rick Carnes, Mentor Williams and many other iconic tunesmiths. They have had songs recorded not only by themselves, but also by artists like Grand Ole Opry star Lynn Anderson! The band from Alvarado has already placed their fingerprints on the map of country music history and that sleepy little Texas town can be proud that their native sons won't ever forget where they came from. Their hearts will always be pure Texan. A note from Alvarado Road Show - "Different Stuff" In the period of time from the fall of 2001 to the spring of 2004, we've had a lot of amazing adventures, both in our lives and our careers. We've made a lot of new friends, and we've had to say goodbye to a few who left us for a better place. We've been on the road visiting and playing music for people we've known our whole lives, and for lots of new people we've met along the way. We've always had a ball traveling around the country, just a couple of Texas nomads making a living playing music and making memories. We've also been spending a lot of time in Nashville, writing songs with some of the most talented people in the music business. Throughout these past few years, we've amassed a collection of songs and recordings, and we wanted to find a way to share this music with our friends, family, and fans. We realized that what we've got is a lot of Different Stuff, meaning that the songs on this CD were recorded at different times, with different musicians, different co-writers, and in many different ways. The songs that we wrote with Kim Patton-Johnston were recorded in Kim's earthy, folky-cool style. The songs we wrote with Shane Decker have his "let 'er roll and let 'er rip" production style all over them. The songs we recorded on our own have yet another unique sound. It's a pot-luck dinner for your ears, and the style and attitude of all the songs on this project change flavors with every course. When we listen to each of these recordings, we're reminded of where we were when we wrote them, the people we were hanging out with, the late nights in studios, and the endless miles on the road. They're all pages in the scrapbook of our lives, and we're so glad you've taken the time to flip through the pages with us. Until we see you out there in the wild blue yonder, thanks for taking time to share our Different Stuff with us! All our devotion, Alvarado Road Show
