Quotes "Tom Pacheco deserves to be mentioned in the same tones of reverence as John Prine, Townes Van Zant, Guy Clark and Steve Earle...Tom Pacheco is one of the most impressive singer/songwriters of our times." - Hugh Gregory, Folk Roots "These latest albums prove once again that Pacheco is one of America's most unjustly overlooked singer/songwriter...Tom Pacheco is a quintessentially American Songwriter. Every song is a gem." - Paul Emile Comeau, Dirty Linen (Jan 5 2005) "Perhaps Woodstock's finest songwriter." - Gary Alexander, Woodstock Times "A Master craftsman...Tom Pacheco is always worth listening to. In many ways his is a voice crying in the wilderness, just as Guthrie's was back in the time of the great depression, and Seeger's was in the fifties - and Dylan's was, when he gave voice to those unable to express their own fears and frustrations in the early sixties. In many ways, Tom Pacheco is continuing that great tradition of putting into words those thoughts and emotions which many of us feel but are unable to express with the eloquence and conviction that he does." - Maverick Magazine, United Kingdom "Tom Pacheco is indeed one of the great storytellers within the timeless span of folk, country and roots music, an exceptional vocalist and acoustic guitarist whose lyrics are ingenious." - Johnny Andreasson, Fremtiden, Norway "He's a brilliant observer, a philosopher for today, the kind of artist for whom lyric sheets were designed...one of the great discoveries of recent times." - John Tobler, Country Music People "With songs about peace, love and harmony tempered with a sharp political edge...Pacheco's music will continue to be relevant for some time to come." - Olivia Doyle, Carlow Nationalist "Perhaps Pacheco's trump card is that he understands the frailties of the human condition better than most...Tom Pacheco has put himself in the frame as one of today's finest writers and performers." - Oliver P. Sweeney, Hotpress, Ireland "Lyrically his songs are gems, from love laments to anti-war ditties, his wordsmithery is most impressive." - Andrew Vaughan, Vox, England "Tom Pacheco is without doubt a major league writer able to incisively examine politics both personal and communal with a clear eye and artist's intellect not in a self mystifying lyrical 'art' but with emotional clarity. He also writes damn fine tunes." - Steve Morris, Beat Magazin
