Christmas songs like you've never heard them. The rich tone from Adam Paul Williams comes through again in this fantastic rendition of Christmas songs we've all grown to love 10 MP3 Songs GOSPEL: Contemporary Gospel, CLASSICAL: Contemporary Details: Growing up as an all-American guy, Adam Paul Williams developed three major themes in his life: a love of sports, a set of deep family values, and a love of Christian music. "Growing up, my dad was in a southern gospel quartet," Adam Paul recalls, "and I always traveled around with them listening to them sing. So from my earliest memories, I was surrounded by Christian music. Just having a family who loves the Lord has taught me the importance of a spiritual walk with Christ. I accepted Christ when I was nine years old. I had always grown up in church, and when I realized what I needed to do and felt God calling me, I decided to accept him." On Father's Day 1991, Adam Paul's parents led him in a prayer of salvation to his Heavenly Father, and he was baptized just a few weeks later. Adam Paul's faith has, in the words of Isaiah, been tested in the furnace of affliction. "The loss of my girlfriend on August 12th, 2003 taught me that God has a plan for everything," Adam Paul recalls. "Though we may not understand his ways, He knows exactly what He is doing and some day we will understand." Adam Paul admits his heart's desire is to be able to sing the Lord's praises forever. "I love going to churches and singing for people. No matter what comes of my professional career, I always want to be able to give God all the glory. Even if I end up singing on the street corner, it'll bring me joy because I know I'm using the gifts God gave me to glorify Him. I'll go where God leads, and in being where He wants me, I know I'll always be happy." "Although I do more contemporary stuff now, I still have a passion for singing the traditional style. Along with the contemporary artists like Shane Shane, Third Day, Jeremy Camp, and David Phelps, I also love to listen to the Gaithers, The Cathedrals and other different genres of music. My Vocal Performance minor in college opened my eyes to opera and other classical styles of music. I love singing classical music and a lot of the techniques have influenced my style." You'll often hear all of Adam Paul's styles in his versatile concerts and album's
