Details: Although I'm not a simple man, I will attempt to bring you up to speed from a little curious boy who was fascinated with drum sets to a humble jokester who loves to create musical stories that make you THINK, FEEL, and RELATE to my world through my eyes. That little boy I told you about enjoyed feeling a sense of belonging in his father's church around the musicians pit being daddies little musical helper. My older brother did such a good job teaching me the ropes on the drums by having me run and get this; and run and get that. And one thing is for sure I knew to keep the drum sticks in my hands at all times. lol So when church was over they gave me the chance to play and create a sound that seemed to rush everyone out of the building faster. But thats ok because someone often told me I was cute and to be honest I didn't care about public opinion anyways; it was just me, the snare, and the symbols. As time moved forward patiently waiting for my turn to show my skills a tragic accident occurs and I was told my brother had passed away. With uncontrollable emotions at the time, I turned to the very thing that felt like home which was creating music as a musician and songwriter. So... I got some buddies together and created my own group called (B)rotha's (o)f (P)ositivity and we began to write feel good sing-a-long songs performing every chance we could before some of the toughest music critics in the business, our friends and family. Well, maybe I over exaggerated a bit on the toughest critics part... As you know parents always love what their kids do at that age RIGHT? Another productive year went by and I found a new love to harass, which was my piano. And YES, my parents were happy I gave their ears a break from the drum s. From there, more songs were created and more experiences were at my front door to help shape me into the musician, songwriter, and producer I am today. Growing up in Orange County, California gave me the opportunity to share my passionate love songs, as I called them with the world at different open mic events such as the Gypsy Den in Santa Ana and Alta Cafe in Newport Beach. I felt on top of the world and most of all free from the stress we all call LIFE. As the crowds grew fonder of my gift, I knew that if I didn't invest in myself then no one else would. You'll never believe this but, I worked odd end jobs saving, saving, and did I say saving to purchase my own studio equipment to release my first EP called "The Movement." And once the world of producing and engineering became a natural instinct, I never looked back. So now your here with me and I would like to introduce myself... My name is Hershel Abram and I'm here to share my story, share my life, and share my love. Hope you indulge
