PETERSBURG TIMES) Paula James has known since she was a child that she wanted to do one thing with her life: sing. With the release of her album, Sweet Country Love, James is one step closer to making that dream come true. At a recent album-release party, James sang to a standing-room-only audience and did three encores before the crowd would let her wind up her show. Country music radio station WXOF, The Country Fox, has taken an interest in her music and is playing several songs from her "Sweet Country Love" CD.

Artist - Paula James Review

by: Bob Porri (MP3 Archives) Song - My Get Up Go With twang to spare and a voice that's right on the money, the Paula James plays some good Country music. Here we have classic country playing by all of the musicians. From the catchy little guitar intro and into the body of the song, this piece comes through with a little more of a country flavor than where my preferences usually would take me. But, like the Contemporary Country that won me over (hook line and sinker!) just a year ago, a really good song (like this) done well (like this), can cross genres through the musicianship and good feelings you get if you open yourself up to it. If this is the style of music you like anyway, you will probably find your foot going right from the guitar intro. Everything falls right into place throughout the song. Very nice job Paula James! Now everyone, go check it out!
