Elizabeth Hunnicutt is one of the most recognized up and coming Christian artists in the Minneapolis/St. Paul music scene. Her career has been quietly gaining momentum over the past few years as she has been sought after to perform in various settings for a wide variety of audiences. Her ability to touch a broad range of people with her music has succeeded in developing an extensive fan-base as well as attracting attention from people inside the music industry. Her talent as a musician is coupled beautifully with her ability to craft a song. A short list of highlights from the past 2 years includes: -Winner of the 2003 New Union Tournament - Pop Category -Release of her debut, self-titled EP; and her latest full-length release, "Finding Me Here" -Performing with artists such as Shane Shane, Monk Neagle, Joel Hanson (formerly of PFR), Rachel Lampa and Ginny Owens, to name a few. -Strong radio play of debut single "Tell Me" on LifeNet and KTIS in Minneapolis, MN as well as features on other stations in the Midwest including KFNW and KBHL Praise FM. Elizabeth has performed at colleges, coffee houses, club venues, camps, conferences, retreats, churches and festivals. Aside from being an accomplished performing songwriter, Elizabeth has a strong desire to lead others in worship. Her capacity for blending her own music with more commonly used songs creates a unique, engaging worship atmosphere. Along with her busy performing schedule, Elizabeth also serves on the worship staff at Eagle Brook Church in the Twin Cities. All of the honors and recognition Elizabeth has received allow her to live out what is on her heart: to encourage others with sincerity and honesty and to convey her desire for intimacy with her Creator, to love and be loved by Him.
