Details: Crying of the soul Produced by Keshavacharya and Gauravani Keshavacharya's first album is pure traditional Kirtan. All songs are Sanskrit chant's with traditional Instruments. Kirtan is the heart or essence of Bhakti. In one sense Kirtan is impossible to define. It defies measurement it resist categorization. Kirtan means to share to celebrate, to praise and to glorify. Kirtan forms a bridge between your outer and inner identities, expressing our desire to know and love the divine absolute. It is utter devotion towards God. The different Ragas and melodies create different moods of spiritual feelings from great joy of intimate association to deep spiritual lamentation in separation of God. Kirtan transcends the artificial barriers imposed by the external world. It rises above skin color, age, gender, race, religion, or creed. Kirtan does not depend upon classic vocal training or musical abilities. It is sung from the heart; it is raw, joyful, primeval.
