Recommended." - Bill Binkleman, Wind and Wire The music on Time Shadows is memorable, warm and inviting. While each song stands on its own, and the individual pieces vary in tempo and mood, the album as a whole is unified by a rich sense of melody and a theme of musical beauty. Time Shadows can be enjoyed equally as background music or in a more active listening manner. In either setting, the music produces a rewarding experience. Lawrence Lougheed is a composer and keyboardist from Brantford, Ontario. His debut CD release, "Time Shadows", was officially released July 2002. As a classically trained musician, Lawrence has enjoyed an extensive career as a music teacher, conductor, organist and pianist. More recently, he has developed his talents as a composer and keyboardist. After experimenting with a number of musical styles, Lawrence found his "voice" in composing and recording contemporary instrumental music. All the music on "Time Shadows" was recorded and edited in his own studio. Mixing and mastering was completed by John Setej, at Hamilton, Ontario. Lawrence is currently working on several new age music projects.
