Young Dre D name was originated through a combination of his middle and last name (Andre Dinkins). A youngsta name Andre in the industry = Young Dre D. Young Dre Ds, didnt expect the street crowd reaction he got. He didnt know he was a lyricist. A rap scientist. He just did it for amusement, later wanting to be recognized for his great gifted skills and abilities he retains, as he continues to express his hunger for the business through his music. His talents landed him the opportunity to work with Robert Brookins, a singing sensation of the early 1980s (Club N). Working with Brookins, who was from the same neighborhood as Young Dre D, which was no other than Del Paso Heights. A neighborhood located in the north side of Sacramento, CA. Robert Brookins has done duets with stars such as Stephanie Mills (Wheres the love). Also, currently playing keyboard singing backup for groups such as Earth Wind Fire. He not only helped me put out my first tape, along with my cousin Dwight Stearn (CEO), overseeing the project called Livin in the Heights and singing the hook (Ballin), he inspired me to take my talent serious. At this point in his career, he created a two man group called (The Two Black Basstuds). Young Dre D working with Bowleggs, after that project Bowleggs became his side man showing his talents and dedication. Young Dre D continuing to go through his ups and downs in this industry.
