This script returns google search results as they would actually show up (even in serp order) when the search is executed manually. The returned results include title, url and description as shown in the search results. This script can return upto 1000 results, which happens to be the maximum that google provides for a keyword. It also supports search results from a local google site (for eg. google, google.co.in, etc.) For production site usage, it supports proxy to prevent server's IP address from getting blocked by google (only if queries are too frequent and/or in high volume. This block is temporary in all cases)
