Electronic/alternative/indie/folk rock created over email by three musicians in three cities, resulting in a dense variety of ideas, styles, textures and melodies. 12 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Electronica, ROCK: Experimental Rock Details: Three multi-instrumentalist bedroom musicians (and life-long friends) created an album via email while each was in separate eastern-U.S. cities. A drum beat was sent from Beacon, NY, to Portland, ME, where a guitar track was added, and sent on to Charlotte, NC, where it got a keyboard part... vocals, bass, etc. were added as a song emerged. Some songs started with bass, some with drums, guitar... each member started an equal amount of songs and passed them in different directions until they were done. The result is Having Fun Without You, the first album from Red Abbott. JA Madera: vocals, bass, piano, keyboard, organ, guitars, percussion Chip Means: vocals, guitars, bass, mandolin, flute, keyboard, percussion bertBrown: vocals, drums, synth, programming, samples, fretless bass
