Creative seasonal music whose nuances bring vividly to mind the blessings and enjoyment of the season, with bell-like reminders of new year nostalgias and resolutions. 6 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, GOSPEL: Contemporary Gospel Details: Cam king, the writer and producer of this album says that he "burns with a desire to touch others with appropriate words and music, to enlarge the horizons of their dynamic through music, to bless, to motivate, to bring better and brighter thoughts in a still too dark world." So in this short seasonal production of six songs, King in This is the Season, ignites rhythms, chorus, brass and other instrumentation to encourage us at this season to feed the hungry, but also to feed their hunger, that is, to move others to a hunger for a better world by our actions. Then the local Caribbean lyrics written by King in his Caribbean Christmas melody bring the true seasonal sense of the production in its Caribbean context, as "sunbeams ripple at our feet and goatskin drums beat" out their stirring traditional folk rhythms, to the dance of eager children hoping to enjoy Christmas treats. King has not forgotten also to mention the millions of children suffering in our world and what we can do by just praying to make their lives better. The song ends with dramatic telephone calls, the sound of helicopters and applause, as a news announcer reveals that over one million children have been touched and helped. Of course, King points out, we too often forget the real meaning of Christmas, until we take off the "mas" and reveal the Christ within Christmas for our consideration. "It's Christmas" invites us to take the mask off Christmas and to bring out the Love. The album contains a New Year Song which invites us to be 'all we are born to be and do what we came into life to do', for a really Happy New Year. And of course, there is a piece of alternative poetic type wrap that talks about the war in Iraq, the war on crack, the war everywhere. Love is the answer to end war everywhere, but the rapper, King, points to the many provocations and difficult situations of our present environment, and the control we have to exert to show love, not "bust then down in front with hate", but to "shoot them in the back with love, with love, with love..." Thus King seeks to fuse form and substance to express matters and concerns vital to our society and daily living, placing us in sympathy with the cause of the album, to bless, motivate to better aspirations and to bring love to one another.
