Atmospheric decadance from Sheffield, UK. Swirling guitars and soaring vocals overlay a pulsating live bass and programmed drum rhythm section. Elements of trip hop, folk and rock combine to create a haunting soundscape with a woven tapestry of vocals. 9 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Folktronic, ROCK: Progressive Rock Details: The others were arguing over which genre to inhabit... We danced out of the musical Pandora's Box whilst no-one was looking. Most new bands claim to have an original sound then dissapointingly re-hash the genre-du-jour. We've heard it all before, and it was better the first time around. Dyonisis are a genuine breath of musical fresh air. We play with layering ethereal soundscapes driven along by pulsing basslines. Two voices individual from each other, yet blending together, weaving emotion, memories and impressions into unique songs embroidered by haunting guitarlines that soar and take our music to another level. Formed in 2005 when Marcus Lou joined the song writing duo of Tom Nel, the band hit the live scene running, building a following and playing with the likes of Manuscript Killing Miranda. The journey has involved ever bigger shows, alongside a number one in the Pzaaz download chart and footage on a soon to be released live DVD. Dyonisis - electrifying a venue near you soon.
