Related styles: POP: Delicate, URBAN/R&B: R&B Pop Crossover Details: TERRY WOOLARD - SONGWRITER, ARRANGER, PERFORMER, RECORDING ARTIST - I owe my initial interest in music to both my Father, the late Bishop Lonnie C. Woolard Sr., and to my Mother, Violet Ann Woolard, who is a missionary in the church and is also both a piano player and vocalist. At an early age my Father paid for my Brother and I to take piano lessons. The piano lessons that I took were intended for me to both have a career teaching music, and also to allow for me to play for the church. Ultimately, I found my interest in the field of entertainment. I began listening to and identifying with music of all genres. In high school my thirst for music deepened as I continued to study. After high school, I got my first job - working as a customer sales and service representative at the Middletown Press publishing company. The money I earned there allowed me to advance my music education. I studied jazz improvisation and music theory at Wesleyan University. During that time I bought my first professional keyboard, a Korg Poly 61, and began performing at various functions around the community. I built a home studio, recorded a number of my original compositions, and subsequently began to receive airplay on a number of college radio stations. Soon after that, I obtained a position working as a music accompanist at Wesleyan University. My studio expanded to include Korg's M1 Workstation. I then began work on my first full-length CD release, while continuing to write and arrange music. I released my first CD on September 7, 2001. "What's Up Little Man" is dedicated to my Son Terry Woolard Jr. I wanted to give him a gift that he can treasure for the rest of his life. I then upgraded my studio to include the Korg Triton Studio Workstation. On December 19, 2005 I released my second CD "It's All About Love", a more lyrical album, which brought an even greater range of music ideas and production. Since then, I have purchased the Korg Micro-X ML keyboard. I am presently working on my third album, which should be completed in the Spring of 2008. Over these years, I have steadily performed and toured as a musician. Some of the places I have performed include: The 92 Theatre, Crowell Concert Hall, CFA Studios and The World Music Hall at Wesleyan University, Middletown, CT Hubbard Park, Meriden, CT Bushnell Park, Hartford, CT Radisson Hotel, Hartford, CT The Hartford Ballroom, Hartford, CT The SM, Manila, Philippines The Marriott, Cromwell, CT Many, many Churches throughout the East Coast and Canada. I enthusiastically look forward to expanding all aspects of my music career, accomplishing new goals and building musical relationships as I move forward into the future.
