As part of his ministry, he performs much of the contemporary songs that work well with the younger set. He wrote and performed the songs on this latest album with his "Life Teen" band in order to add to that repetoire songs that are a little more substantial than some of the straight praise music, but songs that sound fresh. Briand is a married father of 3, who also has a day job as an electrical engineer for a large aerospace firm. He hasn't quit his day job yet, and really just wants the songs he's written to get used by folks to maybe get a little closer to God in their walk.
