Infectious pop music. A pop folk dream set in the swing era with time traveling trance beats. 12 MP3 Songs POP: Ambient Pop, NEW AGE: Techno-Tribal Show all album songs: BabyTuesday Songs Details: -CD includes an 8 page full color Lyric Booklet.- "A super-spectacular pop folk dream. Infectious energy. Beautiful music. In the 12 track Album, "BabyTuesday", Racquel presents a musical collage of genres, re-thought and sewn together in new context. I must juxtapose these environments to describe it ... a Broadway stage, a recital hall, a coffee house, a club in western Europe in the 1970's, and a speakeasy in Brooklyn circa 1938 (a direct quote from the music!). Stylistically, I brainstormed these descriptions as I listened ... "Modern-Rock-as-in -Right-Now", "Storytelling", "Ambient Trance Music." Yet, interestingly enough, there is an unmistakable style uniting these pieces, that identifies each one as "Racquel". Artists from around the world describe Racquel's style as "innovative", "gorgeous", and "rich in layers". Her myspace page is a testament to the chord she has struck with creative people the world over. Before release, her page has received over 20,000 hits, without a single ad or show, all on the weight of the listening previews from this album! Her maps are clustered with pinpoints all over the globe. The comments from established musicians are featured in a slideshow, each one thoughtful and inspired in it's own right. There is a definite buzz around the substance of her music. Racquel often infuses her songs with the baroque tradition of layering independent melodies together, as in fugue. Her classical studies are ever present, perhaps no more obvious than in the track, "The Piano Lesson" where we hear the actual voice of Racquel's maestro from New York instructing her to practice so it's "Quality". The album comes together seamlessly in the sturdy and competent hands of this studio artist. As a musician with a professed obsession with all things percussion (piano to drums), Racquel infuses each piece with odd timings and world beats -keeping even her more tender ballads moving at a rocket's pace. There are turns that tickle the fancy. Listen, you'll see. One enters a pop song that sounds fun and energetic, yet exits the song as witness to jazz and classical detours. I for one struggle to define it except to say ... Fantastic, as in spectacular fun. Racquel uses unique chord progressions in Baby Tuesday, and irons them so smooth you don't even know it is happening. When she doesn't resolve a passage, or modulates, it is lovely and original. the music in this album often goes... where it is not "supposed" to go. And yet, she goes, with grace and energy. Natural. And I find the more I play the music, the more I discover nuances layered inside each neat little song. Much more importantly, I hasten to add that each song has that feeling of a journey, story, and profound emotion. The next track starts, and you are somewhere altogether new. So, after the above attempt at analysis and review, I guess it comes down to the images I started with ..."a Broadway stage, a recital hall, a coffee house, a discoteque in western Europe in the 70's, and a speakeasy circa 1938 ... Modern-Rock-as-in-Right-Now, Storytelling, Ambient Trance Music" ... (and this time I'll add futuristic lectures from interplanetary professors !) I just love it. It's simply amazing to me. This is a must listen. " - Scott, 540 AM Radio Personality, New York. BIO: Racquel is a vocalist, classically trained pianist, and composer. Keep the inspiration flowing, Ma'am... "and "this(GIRL IN LOVE) is a really funny 60s tune, reminds me of those pre-Supremes girly groups from when I was little tommy. Percussion going tactac---tac. And the backing vox as loud and spontaneous as the lead. Very typical of that era; you captured that sound perfectly! Reminds me just a little of Please Mr Postman (yeah, those groups inspired the Beatles too :). And who put the bomb in the bam-a-lam-a-dingdong?! Ears for detail are required on this one :)" and "Two new songs sounding great again; nobody can or will ever top your musical pazazz, if I may say so." Tom Frohwein CD recording artist, Musician, Vocalist NETHERLANDS "wow, you've been busy! very cool music! i can feel your loving bright spirit in it...! and beautiful singing.... good on ya Racquel...!".- Kit Walker Windham Hill Jazz, HUM recording artist SAN FRANCISCO Bay Area, California "Gorgeous stuff Racquel, soooooooo happy to hear these tunes." and "WTG Racquel - you're really getting into your groove there, great stuff!!! Yes, that techno/trance vibe is exactly what I meant - but I know what you mean about the sound getting 'squished' when you convert to MP3 - you can listen to ANY song here on MySpace and it sounds all compressed compared to CD where the sound is so much bigger, better, more detailed. Well, Recital Hall is sounding fabby too - lots of nice orchestral detail there, and it's really happy music!!Well done Racq - keep up the gorgeous work! " Debs K. Editor and professional Writer for
