Steven Almond - New Times Broward/Palm Beach "...progressive and alternative, Matthew Sabatella achieves something close to rock nirvana (small 'n') on a thunderously melodic new album..." Sean Piccoli - South Florida Sun Sentinel "...folk and americana tinged and contemporary, but much more ambitious and eclectic than the big-time radio ilk of Wallflowers, et al..." Ravis Harnell - Focus Magazine "...reveals himself to be a more-than-capable vocalist, with an earnest and gritty range..." Sandra Schulman - Billboard Magazine
