Lohmann III This is a small collection of some of the incidental music of the past few years of our lives-music that reflects some of the reaching, resting, bewilderment, wonder, joy, already, not yet, and most of all grace that make up the Christian life, a life that revolves around the singular, though infinitely-faceted, end of knowing God. So, whether slicing through the fog of some forsaken back road; struggling for consciousness amidst the midnight highway's blur; taking in the sights, smells, and sounds of all that is the land's end; dousing the coals with lighter fluid for the third time this evening; enjoying the company of friends and beloveds; cleaning house; or staring at the ceiling trying, for the life of you, to figure out how you got where you are; it is our hope that these songs will, in some way, cause your thoughts to rest on Him and the great salvation He has provided for us in Jesus Christ. If you have questions about what this great salvation is, or what the gospel of Jesus Christ has to do with your life, please email us at us@p-o-r-t-i-c-o.com, or take advantage of these resources: covfel.org, alphausa.org, sovereigngrace.com/gospel/.
