Her music invigorates pop with a touch of soul, jazz, and blues, taking it back to its roots with a sound as refreshing as her message. Having performed professionally since the age of 11, Amae has performed everywhere from Disneyland to Padres games, sang radio jingles and opened up for the Drifters, all before graduating high school. She moved to Los Angeles in 2001, where her professional career truly took off. Amae grew immensely as an artist, co-writing and performing over 40 original tunes with electronica/funk trio Animastik, regular players at venues such as Viper room, Knitting Factory and the Key Club. Still, in 2004 she made the decision to explore a solo career as a vocalist, songwriter and performing artist. Since then, she has earned a place in many people's hearts, playing at seminars and events such as Robert Allen's Enlightened Wealth retreat and Usana Health Sciences conference, all the way to festivals such as Harmony, Emerge-n-See, Shambhala and Burning Man. She has also shared a stage with Erykah Badu, serenading her for her birthday at the House of Blues. Amae's music video for "Concrete Flowers" won "Best Music Video" in Elevate film festival 2006.
