Original roots music--some so old and beautiful it will make your parents cry, some so new and energetic it will make your kids dance. 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, FOLK: Traditional Folk Details: Singer-songwriters Greg Beattie and Victoria Blythe, along with instrumentalist Dave Decker, combine voices and a half dozen acoustic instruments into original songs that are both fresh and timeless--from the roots of American traditional song forms to explorations of contemporary sounds. Greg and Victoria married in the mid-90's, quickly produced two albums, then (a little more slowly) produced two children. Now ten years later, they are back in the studio, with their third CD, an all acoustic folk/roots music collection, Green Girl. All along they have been writing, listening and improving. Their songs have captured the prestigious Kerrville New Folk prize, grand prize in the West Coast Songwriters International song contest as well as first place in two additional categories, the Napa Valley Emerging Songwriter award, West Coast Songwriters Association Song of the Year honors, and have appeared in TV shows and movies. Their songs have been recorded by other artists and on numerous compilations with such well known artists as Joan Baez and Cheryl Wheeler. Their live show is a mix of Victorias soaring, ethereal vocals and hauntingly beautiful fiddle on pure folk ballads and sultry jazz-fusion torch songs, Gregs energetic and insightful musical treatment of birth, death and everything in between, and Daves constantly creative lead-guitar commentary. Their new album, Green Girl, is the culmination of nearly 10 years of writing, performing and dreaming since their prior release--songs that are varied but genuine representations of the many roads travelled to get here. Also heard on the album are Bass wizard Sam Bevan, the insanely talented (and sometimes insane) Joe Craven, god of the high guitar Tim Ellis, always-tasteful Jim Norris on drums, and many others. The album was engineered and co-produced by John Jacob, whose persistence, patience, good judgment and good heart made the process a pleasure.
