His natural feeling, idiomatic sound, and fluency in jazz were purely expressed on an impeccably classical base. His way of playing the piano is undeniably American, rich in vitality and loose. A pianist who is brilliant and appealing in many ways, Montgomery has successfully married two diverse musical cultures; American and European." -IL LAVORO, GENOA, ITALY "Doug Montgomery's playing possesses a seductive variety of touches and colors. He enraptures us with his interpretation." -LE SOIR, BRUSSELS, BELGIUM "Doug Montgomery plays with compelling intensity, sensitivity and energy." -EL NACIONAL, CARACAS, VENEZUELA "Doug Montgomery is a gifted musician who is equally at home performing Chopin or singing great show tunes. The wondrous part is that he does both with great style, verve and talent." -MICHAEL FEINSTEIN "You will certainly see his name again." -EL FIGARO, PARIS, FRANCE For the past fifteen years, music lovers around the world have agreed with the Chicago Sun Times, who stated "There is only one Doug Montgomery." His unforgettable live performances and his versatile recordings reveal the vast talent of this world-class musician. A native Chicagoan, Montgomery began attending Northwestern University's pre-college music program when he was only 15.
