All of us get to where we are through the basic composition of human milestones, but few of us recognize the smaller embellishments which bring extra enjoyment to our lives. The ultimate grace note is placed in our lifes musical score by the Master Composer. It is our opportunity to reveal that grace to others through the talents weve been given. Jona has both given and received that grace during her performances. Audience members have responded gratefully as well as generously, sharing their personal experiences and needs with Jona after connecting to particular lyrics or anecdotes. Outreach before and after a performance is as important to her as the music itself. Jonas music graces the lives of her audience as she connects them to the grace she has experienced from above.
