Side-splitting stand-up comedy on everything from TiVo to the fighting in the Middle-East. Taped live at the world famous Ice House in Pasadena in June 2006. 18 MP3 Songs SPOKEN WORD: Comedy
Details: Not all Arabs are terrorists. The only time this Egyptian bombs is on stage, and he hasn't done that since he was a rookie comedian ten years ago! Whether he's being "randomly" strip-searched at the airport, or being pulled over on the highway because his eyebrows are too close together, Louis just can't seem get a break. The good news is hes found a way to turn his ethnic misadventures into a world class comedy act for your amusement. Pick up his CD today and get ready to laugh 'till it hurts. "I'm Egyptian and my wife is from the South, so our kids are HALF-ARAB and HALF-REDNECK. These are gonna be some CONFUSED kids. Someday theyre gonna be burning crosses on their OWN front lawns!" "The reason theres so much fighting in the Middle East is that it's too damn HOT there. It's about 115 degrees IN THE SHADE. After wandering through the desert for two weeks wearing a robe and a towel on your head, youre ready to kick some ASS. If we want to create peace in the Middle-East weve got to stop sending DIPLOMATS and send SHORTS. You don't see any wars breaking out in PALM SPRINGS do you? Those people know how to dress!" The highlights of Louis's comedy career include reaching the semi-finals in a national Comedy Central competition, being featured on the Good Day L.A. morning show, and opening for Jay Leno at the Bally's Hotel in Las Vegas for an audience of over 2,000 people.
