From India to Tibet, a musical journey of contemporary rhythm and melodies using a blend of traditional instruments of the region and modern orchestration to meditate or just unwind by. 12 MP3 Songs NEW AGE: New Age, WORLD: Asian Details: Born in New Orleans in a musical family, Robert Earl Longley first heard the flamenco guitar of Carlos Montoya from an old scratchy LP from the early 60's. After experiencing his first Montoya concert at the tender age of 11, Robert knew he had to play the guitar. Robert played the local club scene in New Orleans and many subsequent tours throughout the U.S. After ten years of touring, he decided to return to his roots and began to study more classical and flamenco techniques. In 1990-92, he took first place in eight of eight guitar competitions in Southern California. Robert weaves a very distinctive style indeed--a beautifully orchestrated neo-classical/flamenco fusion of world music. After years of studying Asian philosophies, Robert is very interested in the ethnic music of that genre, which is reflected in some of his other works. The listener will instantly discern that Robert's approach is both heartfelt and seductive, leading one on an emotional-filled journey. Robert has produced eight CDs to date. In his nuevo-flamenco style that so many have come to love, Robert comes full circle in this Asian orchestral collection. He breathes new passion and romance into his compositions, uplifting the heart and soul. This guitar virtuoso eloquently states his guitar poetry. This album is sure to conjure sensuous imagery, to delight the imagination, and to become your sanctuary.
