Producers Cory Colt Orosco and Ernie Joseph Orosco took on the project and brought in special guest to perform and create the "American Gypsies". MY WORDS If you listen very carefully To the music that I write Perhaps you'll catch the picture I am painting about my life. From being an adolescent run-away To the birth of a precious child The death of a close friend And In between, when I went wild. I may have written about you Hidden somewhere in a rhyme Memories are forever Popping up from time to time You may have felt the pain I felt Because you've been there, too And my words seem like a giant mirror Reflecting back at you It's my legacy I write To leave behind Essence I have gathered When Life has been un-kind I have not just grown older I've grown wiser with the time And, if you listen carefully It's there in every line. Who says we have to look like American Idols to be good?
