The first single from this album Before You Go received radio play and spent 11 weeks in the Australian Singles Chart, having peaked at number 16. Her eagerly anticipated follow up single I Belong was released July 2007. I Belong marks an up-tempo change of pace for Candice, with a chugging guitar line which compliments her immediately identifying vocals. When asked what I Belong is about Candice replies, I Belong is about moving on and being optimistic, about letting go of old things. Its a positive song. As an independent artist with the help of Tunecore Candice has been able to take her music to the world through iTunes and Rhapsody. Playing acoustically or with her band, Candice is a natural live performer who connects with her audience on every occasion. Growing up immersed in music, Candice was able to teach herself to play the piano and guitar by ear. Revisiting her childhood collection provides a glimpse at some of the influences on Candice's style.
