Original jazz in a straight-ahead style. 7 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Traditional Jazz Combo Details: Peter Anastos Iter is a new group from the San Francisco Bay Area that premiered at the Montclair Jazz Festival in Oakland, CA in October, 2005. Since then the band has gone on to record original material composed by Anastos which is showcased in the bands debut cd Iternity. The Iter concept, developed by Anastos (its not that deep, folks), is a musical journey down the Roman road, or iter (common crossword clue), of jazz. The compositions are eclectic, ranging from the title cut, Iternity, which offers intertwined harmonies by the horns over a revolving foundation played by the rhythm section before bursting into a hard bop, to Carousel which starts as a childs nightmare on the county fairs carousel but ends in a smooth, flowing ride. The other selections, such as Leebarebop, which incorporates the influence of Lee Morgan with a funky, hip-hop rhythm and DeCoy, based on McCoy Tyners signature 70s chord structures, illustrate Anastos versatile writing style. The band features Anastos on trumpet, Nelson Braxton on acoustic bass, Andy Dillard on drums, Steve Erquiaga on guitar, Jason Martineau on piano, and Bryan McVicker on tenor and soprano saxes. "A great program of modern jazz; original ideas with colors of the masters. The arrangements involve the whole band, adding lots of movement and dimension. Peter's strong melodies bear the personal stamp of his ear for the piquant interval. That sense, and an unflagging band, unify these tracks into an artistic statement. From buoyant to mysterious, classic to challenging, these are the iterations of Peter Anastos"-- Dave Slusser, composer and tenor saxophonist. As Anastos himself will tell you, it took almost 25 years to produce this album so dont expect the next one until about 2031!
