"Chloe's performance reflects her affection and devotion to this great work...her knowledge of the style is impressive." -Laurette Goldberg, world-renowned Baroque authority "(Chloe's performance)-One of the loveliest musical moments on the Late Show." -David Letterman "Perfect execution and elocution." Paul Shaffer CBS Late Show Orchestra

Since giving her first public performance at the age of 4, Chloe Christian Pang has been captivating audiences with her spirited and commanding performances. Recorded at 12, she is the youngest pianist in history to professionally record Bach's formidable Goldberg Variations for commercial release. Last season, she performed excerpts of the Goldberg Variations on the "Late Show with David Letterman," made her New York debut at Columbia Artists' CAMI Hall, and performed at Boston's Jordan Hall for Public Radio International's musical prodigy program, "From the Top". Chloe has performed recitals in Beverly Hills, Manhattan Beach, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, and New York. The piano was her first toy. At the age of 3, Chloe's passion for math and art prevailed. Never having had a formal piano lesson, it was only after Chloe plucked out melodies on the piano that she heard, singing incessantly and marking up music scores, that her mother began teaching her at 4. At 6, Chloe vowed to live by Robert Frost's poem, "The Road Not Taken", which still graces her bedroom door. She made her Solo Recital debut at 8 and was one of the youngest performers chosen for the Junior Bach Festival that year. At 10, Chloe made her orchestral debut with the Pro Art Symphony Orchestra and appears as frequent guest soloist with symphonies such as the Pacific Chamber Symphony and Fremont Symphony Orchestra. In addition, she has won many prestigious first place awards and top prizes. Chloe is a student of Mack McCray at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and resides in the Bay area. She continues to establish herself as a unique pianist whose dream is 'to unite people through the beauty of music'. Her playing exudes a rare sense of maturity, strength, beauty, and charisma that inspires audiences everywhere. Please visit: chloepang.com
