Details: Denham Reagh is a four piece acoustic rock band from Campbelltown, Sydney Australia. The name was created by Robbie and Marc's respective places of living, and joined together to form Denham Reagh. The band consists of four members: Robert Bruce (Guitar and Lead Vocals) Marc Stagg (Keyboard/Guitar and Lead Vocals) Gordon Jowsey (Bass Guitar and Vocals) Aaron Jobst (Drums) Denham Reagh formed with Marc and Robert playing music together in high school and after having relative success as a duo, recruited Gordon and Aaron to finish the line-up. Already they have shared the stage with acts including Operator Please, Dead Letter Circus, Stealing ONeal, Sonic Porno and The Black Stars. The boys play a large collection of original songs and Bassist Gordon describes their music as very melodic and rhythm focused with a little something extra. They like to write songs with meaningful lyrics, particularly things that focus on real life experiences and issues. One example of this is the song On Your Own which focuses on the sad feelings one has when losing someone very close, a feeling many have experienced. The song is to be featured in an upcoming compilation CD titled 'Rock 4 Life,' which is to be released early Autumn through Quickstar Productions. Bands that Denham Reagh have been heavily influenced by include Matchbox 20, John Mayer and the Goo Goo Dolls. Drum Media journalist Liam Casey recently wrote about the band and reviewed their show saying I will happily bet a reasonable amount of money that the indie and mainstream crowds will go nuts for Denham Reagh. The band recently released their debut 'Self Titled' EP and will continue gigging all throughout 2009 in support of this release.
