high-energy, harmony-driven songs of hope, revolution, and love, on a bed of strings. Led by singer-songwriter Hunter Paye and filled out by Matthew Franzen, Kina Lyn Muir, and Mike McDaniel. 12 MP3 Songs ROCK: Acoustic, FOLK: Power-folk Details: "Folkrum is set to give hometown Portland a taste of roots-rock with more kick than the rest!" - Nathan Skidmore, The Oregonian "'Folkrum' will make you feel grateful to be alive." - Jeff Rosenberg, The Willamette Week "... they may just save America from their homebound addiction to t.v. and d.v.d rentals, and bring them back to live music." - Jim Brunberg, Mississippi Studios Owner/performer Folkrum is a dirt road taken at highway speed by a harmony-driven modern vintage bandwagon. Nimble fingers fandango across the countryside without a fret. An empassioned storyteller tears off the rear-view mirror, as the seats become a string section of gypsies and tap-dancing troubadours. Opening for acts such as Michelle Shocked, Train, Luka Bloom, and Strangefolk, their vaudevillian humor and melodic/harmonic intensity zigzags through time, from Victorian sea chanties to P-Funkish grooves. With skillful, yet spacious arrangements, the band delivers punching, truthful glimpses at today's problems and joys. Currently based in Portland Oregon, the band recorded and mixed their debut album, "some antics," at Mississippi Studios. Abounding optimism fills both lanes as they continue to perform, write, and grow.
