Mixed with their sophisticated musicianship, they are ready to rock the music industry! The concept for Ladymoon started in the fall of 1997.

Singer/Songwriter Ryan Brown decided that he wanted to create a group that could have great jams, lyrical content and popular music. Brown had a strong vision of the success of Ladymoon. In the fall of 2000 he chose long-time friend Kris Potts on bass, and fellow Ball State student Mark McKowen on the drum set. Together they started writing new material, and recorded their first demo in the spring of 2001. This eight song demo includes great material like Sunburst," Midnight Downtown," and Turn it Upside Down." Ladymoon looks forward to the future! They just recently finished their first full length LP. The unnamed LP features a great variety of music that encompasses their very eclectic style. The LP includes radio friendly material, as well as their infamous jams! This new LP should be one of the most interesting discs to come out of the Indianapolis area for quite some time.
